

The Cavan Diaspora Project

The Cavan Diaspora Project has been created to ignite opportunities for communication, networking and partnership for the vibrant Cavan community living at home in Ireland and across the globe. This new diaspora initiative will foster meaningful two-way relationships, supporting vital economic, social and cultural networks.

This is a community made up of people from every walk of life with a link to Cavan in some way; by ancestry, through business or community connections as well as friendship. Cavan County Council acknowledges the importance of sustaining this unique diaspora, creating a platform that connects with and supports this diverse community of people.

With a focus on participative planning and development, Cavan's diaspora engagement programme will create authentic pathways for communication by strategically reaching out to members of the county's diaspora. This initiative concentrates on the enhancement of existing and new networks, creating a long-term bond, linking people and place to strengthen local development.

Get Connected to Cavan

Have you a connection to Cavan by birth, business or friendship?

The Cavan Diaspora project gives us a chance to step forward and extend the hand of friendship to the thousands of people who may wish to shape the future of Cavan, no matter where they live. If you would like to stay informed about this work, or can share advice, knowledge or networks then we want to hear from you. In particular we would like your views on the following:

- What can we do to make you feel more connected to Cavan?
- How should Cavan communicate with its diaspora?
- Have you ideas to share about creating the Cavan Diaspora Project?
- Have you got links in the diaspora community?
- What can we do for you? What information would you like to receive from Cavan/about Cavan?
